ISSUE 5 : 21st February, 2023

Good day, valued members of the FTA Co-operative Thrift Ltd!

As we embark on a new year, we are presented with new situations, perspectives, and changes. These changes require us to analyze our advantages and disadvantages to ensure that we provide maximum returns to our esteemed members.

I am thrilled to announce that we have successfully held our Triennial General Meeting (2019-2021) in mid-October, and we welcome our three new board members: Maika Moroca, Lasarusa Senibale, and Sakiusa Turagabeci.

At FTA Co-operative Thrift Limited, we are committed to revitalizing our mission and vision to include the ever-shifting landscapes, changing member needs, and our cooperative's goals. We aim to create a SOLE-SOLEVAKI platform that emphasizes the importance of saving and investing to achieve a healthy financial status, ensuring increased sustainability, and greater benefits in the form of competitive investment and savings rates, annual dividends, incentives, and better products.

Our strategic move towards revitalization includes investing in new ventures, such as the Lands Negotiation and Investment Committee, tasked with reviewing existing land negotiations and identifying new opportunities. Our goal is to establish more Teachers Villages for our members in partnership with TLTB and landowners. In addition, we are in discussions with the Fiji National Provident Fund to establish our cooperative as a lending institution, making it possible for members to access relevant eligibility for their own comfort.

Our commitment to agriculture and land ownership is also evident as we explore new avenues for members currently engaged in farming. We aim to assist them in marketing their products and securing approval for greater loans for agricultural purposes or microfinance.

As we move forward, we remain focused on maximizing the potential of every dollar for the growth of FTA Co-operative Thrift Ltd. We remain committed to our mission and vision, and we are confident that our efforts will lead to a prosperous future for our members.

Thank you, and may God bless the FTACTL family.

& FTACTL Chairman, Mr. losefo Volau

Hon. Minister of Education Mr. Aseri Radroro

Minister of Educations' Speech :

Ni Sa Bula Vinaka.

I am pleased to be part of this event this afternoon. Thank you for the kind invitation and the warm welcome.

What a great way to conclude another week of service, challenges, achievements and transition with the team that has been the voice of the most important stakeholder of the Ministry, our teachers. I had just returned from the West, on a tour to some of our schools and Education Offices along with the Assistant Minister and Senior Education Officials in the past three days. The experience was overwhelming as it was our first official ministerial visits – one of the many more visits to our schools and education offices in the future.

Since day one in my role as the Minister for Education, the turnout of teachers to schedule an appointment to discuss issues regarding their employment status has been overwhelming. This has raised a lot of questions about the Ministry's current procedures and processes, among many others.

I would like to reassure you all today that the Coalition Government through the Ministry of Education is working on reviewing current policies and introducing new and inclusive ones. So far, you have been very supportive of the new changes that have been put in place as well as the Ministry's initiative to bring about restructurings geared to fairly support our teachers.

It is my hope that you will continue this partnership and render your support in our future endeavours. You are one of the key implementers of the changes that we want to see in the way processes are undertaken in our Ministry.

Yes, concerns have been raised on the inconsistencies in processing leadership positions in our schools that have denied promotion to senior officers who have served in leadership positions for several years and under the OMRS Guideline, have been replaced by those with much less or no experience in leadership position.

The lack of consultations has brought about an unfair and non-transparent processes and this has really questioned the validity of the OMRS Guideline that is currently being used for appointment. Moving forward, I wish to have more discussions with union reps as well as relevant stakeholders to effectively and fairly address issues as such. Together with the Executives, stakeholders and Unions, we are definitely going to review the matrix used for OMRS especially the selection criteria for Heads of Schools and post holders. There need to be more weighting and emphasis on experience as the positions require proven performance in leadership position and expertise to lead schools and students successfully. Qualification is great but practical experiences give you a better understanding of the school environment. We must be honest with ourselves in regards to the education system in Fiji. Far too many times I have seen that injustice prevails in the way processes are conducted especially those that involve our teachers.

Currently, the Ministry of Education is following two separate structures where it is continuing with a bit of the old one and have adopted some from the new. For this reason, the team at the Ministry is already looking at reorganizing the organisational structure to ensure efficient support service to schools from the District and Head office. I wish to challenge both unions that we work hand-in-hand to see that transparency, equity and most importantly, justice and fairness is maintained. With God's gift of discernment and continuous guidance, we shall work in unity to provide only the best for those we serve.

The Coalition Government's plans to eliminate teacher contracts and extend the retirement age to 60 will now be a breather for our teachers who have had job security issues over the past years. As career civil servants, teachers will now be able to access financial commitments and have a secured future. The Ministry is also working on a submission to Cabinet to hold an Education Summit in the first quarter of this year and this will involve relevant stakeholders like the two Unions to map out strategies which will address issues and trends for the future of education in Fiji, in the next four years. As Teacher Unions, your role to support teachers is paramount. It is understood that teachers role evolve and more than teachers, they are facilitators whose role is greater than just delivery of lessons. They need to become transformational teachers who help students become critical thinkers.

We are well aware of the teaching environment that prevails today and the extent of challenges faced by Teachers. It is our partnership to support our teachers accordingly that will make a difference. I mentioned this during our welcome event last week and I will say it again, we must always remember that we are dealing with human beings who need time to accept change. So as a support system for our teachers, the Ministry welcomes a systematic approach with stakeholders working in partnership for the betterment of our education system. With this ladies & gentlemen, I acknowledge the support of the current and the retired members of the Fiji Teachers' Confederation.

The Ministry looks forward to working in partnership with both Unions in order to serve our teachers better so that they can also offer the best and quality service in our various schools.

Thank you & Vinaka Vakalevu.

The FTA Co-operative Thrift Ltd (FTACTL) recently underwent a renovation, and on the occasion of the dedication of its offices, the Qase Levu of the Methodist Church of Fiji, the Reverend Ili Vunisuwai, presided over the ceremony. The liturgy delivered by Reverend Vunisuwai emphasized the godly nature of assisting members through solesolevaki, and praised the Teachers Cooperative for extending its reach to all members in need of support towards leading productive lives.

The dedication of the FTACTL offices was followed by the Triennial General Meeting, which took place downstairs at the FTA Hall. The meeting provided a forum for members to discuss matters relating to the cooperative and provided an opportunity to reflect on its accomplishments and future direction.

In the evening, a function was held at the Yue Lai Hotel to celebrate the occasion, and the Honorable Reverend was once again in attendance. The FTACTL was honored to have such a distinguished minister present, and the event served as a testament to the hard work and dedication of its members. # President of the Methodist Church of Fiji & Rotuma's Speech :

Philippians 2:11

Rev. Ili Vunisuwai.

"And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

Dear distinguished guests, colleagues, and friends,

I am honored to stand before you today as we celebrate the dedication of the new FTACTL Office. I want to begin by expressing my gratitude to all those who have made this day possible. To the leadership team, staff, and partners of FTACTL, your hard work and dedication have brought us to this momentous occasion. I want to thank you for your vision and commitment to the education sector in Fiji.

As we dedicate this office, I am reminded of the words of the apostle Paul in Philippians 2:11, which says, "and every tongue acknowledge that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father." This verse reminds us that all honor and praise belongs to God. It is only through His grace and mercy that we have been able to come this far. We can expand our reach, strengthen our partnerships, and deepen our impact on the education sector in Fiji.

As we move forward, I want to offer a few words of advice to our teachers who are the backbone of this organization. Teachers are the key to unlocking the potential of our students. They have the power to shape the minds and hearts of our future generations.

Firstly, teachers should not be afraid but to be brave. Fear often holds us back from achieving our full potential. We are afraid of failure, rejection, and the unknown. But failure is not something to be feared, it is a stepping stone to success. We must be brave enough to take risks, try new things, and push ourselves beyond our comfort zones.

Secondly, prayer is the ultimate solution to all problems and challenges. We must be prayerful at all times, seeking God's wisdom, guidance, and strength. Through prayer, we can overcome our fears, find clarity, and be empowered to face any obstacle that comes our way.

Lastly, I want to encourage our teachers to embrace the opportunity and excitement that comes with their calling. Teaching is not just a job, it is a calling. It is an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of our students and to shape the future of our nation. We must approach our work with enthusiasm, passion, and a sense of purpose.

In conclusion, I am excited about the future of FTACTL and the impact that we will make in the education sector in Fiji. Let us continue to work together, pray together, and strive towards excellence in all that we do. May God bless this new office and all those who work within its walls.

Thank you.

"SOLESOLEVAKI, Future Proofing" and Innovation Culture helps FTACTL Integrate Environmental, Social, Resilience Building and Governance Commitment and Actions across the Organisation.

Today we share our insights on how "SOLESOLEVAKI, Future Proofing" and Innovation Culture can help you integrate environmental, social, resilience building, and governance commitment and actions across the organization. This analysis is based on the our way of thinking, which emphasizes simplicity, innovation, and design.

Firstly, let us consider the concept of "SOLESOLEVAKI," which means mutual cooperation and assistance in Fijian culture. It is a powerful concept that embodies the idea of working together towards a common goal. By adopting this approach, FTACTL can foster a culture of collaboration and teamwork, where everyone is committed to making a positive impact on the environment and society.

Secondly, the term "future-proofing" means to anticipate and prepare for potential challenges and disruptions that may arise in the future. As a responsible and forward-thinking organization, FTACTL needs to identify and address potential risks and challenges related to environmental, social, and governance issues. By doing so, you can develop strategies and solutions that will help you stay ahead of the curve and adapt to changing circumstances.

RFTA Update :

We are humbled to stand before you today, to reflect on the achievements and legacies of our predecessors at the Fijian Teachers Association. Their wisdom and dedication to education have paved the way for our own work, and we honor their memories with the utmost respect and gratitude.

As we remember the lives of Mr. Parayame Cakacaka, Mr. Tevita Ba, and Mrs. Mere Lako, we also celebrate the milestones that our Association has achieved. The launch of the I Taukei Big Book texts is a testament to our commitment to providing quality education in the Vernacular language, and we are proud to have the support of the I Taukei Trust Fund in making this a reality.

But our work is far from over. We are already working on a sequel to our initial book, "Na Vuku Ni Vanua", which will honor past education facilitators and their contributions to our nation. This book honors their worthy contributions and celebrates their achievements. Through their commitment to education, they have helped shape the minds of our youth and have helped pave the way for a better future. The book serves as a reminder of the importance of education and the role that educators play in shaping our society. It is a testament to the hard work and dedication of those who have come before us, and it is a source of inspiration for those who will continue their legacy. "The Wisdom of the Land" is a valuable addition to our nation's literary heritage and a fitting tribute to those who have given so much to our education system. It is a fitting tribute to those who have dedicated their lives to teaching, and we are honored to be a part of it.

"Individual commitment to a group effort-that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilization work."

Vince Lombardi

As we move forward, I am proud to announce that Mr. Emitai Boladuadua will succeed the late Mr. Parayame Cakacaka as President of the RFTA. Mr. Boladuadua is a respected educator and a dedicated member of our community, and I have every confidence that he will continue to lead our Association with integrity and vision.

I am reminded of a quote from Steve Jobs, who said, "I want to put a ding in the universe." And while our work may seem small in comparison, I believe that we can make a significant impact on the lives of our students and our nation. We have a responsibility to honor the legacy of our predecessors, to push ourselves to be better, and to always strive for excellence.

Thank you for your commitment to education and for your support of the Fijian Teachers Association. Together, we can make a difference.

TEACHERS VILLAGE SCHEME :

Land Management Officer Report Mr. Aminiasi Bainivalu

The Teachers Village Scheme is an initiative in Fiji that was established to assist members of the Fijian Teachers Association with their housing needs. The scheme was first introduced in 1987 and operated until 2010, after which it was taken over by the Fijian Teachers Co-operative Thrift Limited. The purpose of the scheme was revitalized in 2021, with a focus on purchasing land, subdividing it, and selling it at affordable prices. This report will explore the Teachers Village Scheme in further detail, including its history, objectives, and current activities.

Objectives:

The purpose of the Teachers Village Scheme was revitalized in 2021, with a renewed focus on providing affordable housing to FTA members. The objectives of the scheme include:

- To purchase land and subdivide it into lots for sale to FTA members at an affordable price.
- To encourage veivoli vakaitaukei, or community participation in the development of the scheme.
- To partner with Local Government Units (LGUs) to assist with capital projects in communities where the scheme operates.

In order for members to complete their purchases and sales, it is necessary for FTACTL to be an approved lender with FNPF. This allows members to access eligibility that will be paid directly to FTACTL. Two dialogues have already taken place between FTACTL and FNPF, including one with the CEO. His office arranged a meeting with the responsible Management Board and Deputy CEO, during which FTACTL received a positive response. As a result, the first Teachers Village is expected to be established in Uluinatabua, Lautoka in the near future. Once all the necessary steps have been taken to build this village and the knowledge gained, the sales and purchase process for the remaining Villages should become much smoother.

Thirdly, innovation culture is critical to driving positive change and achieving sustainable development goals. An innovation culture encourages creativity, experimentation, and risk-taking, which can lead to the development of new and innovative solutions to complex problems. By fostering an innovation culture within FTACTL, you can encourage employees to think outside the box and come up with innovative solutions to environmental, social, and governance issues.

Finally, integrating environmental, social, resilience building, and governance commitment and actions across the organization requires a comprehensive and coordinated approach. This involves identifying and addressing potential risks and challenges, developing strategies and solutions, fostering a culture of collaboration and innovation, and monitoring and evaluating progress.

In conclusion, adopting the "SOLESOLEVAKI, Future Proofing" and Innovation Culture approach can help FTACTL integrate environmental, social, resilience building, and governance commitment and actions across the organization. By doing so, you can enhance your reputation, mitigate risks, and achieve sustainable development goals. Remember, as Steve Jobs once said, "Innovation distinguishes between a leader and a follower."
